Dana Sova

Based in Denver, Colorado, Dana is the proud owner of Alchemy & Reverie, a Davines exclusive salon space. Fueled by a never-ending commitment to education, Dana has built her career on a foundation from some of the most revered education teams in North America. Learning from Vidal Sassoon, Bumble & Bumble, Davines Education, Sally Rogerson and Kaizen Education as well as completing the Post Graduate Program at Vidal Sassoon in London, U.K.

She became a Davines Local Trainer in 2012, Davines National Master Trainer in 2018 and became a part of the National Cutting team in 2022.

Dana is dedicated to elevating the craft of hair coloring and cutting through hands-on education. She believes deeply in providing guidance and support to stylists at all points in their journey—encouraging others to stay inspired and find balance. She strives to help stylists expand their skill set and see their own work as transformative craft. By aligning with Davines, Dana is able to share her passion for creating a more sustainable lifestyle while excelling in a creative and fashion-forward industry.

LeAnne Young

Leanne has worked with and learned from some of the most influential people in the hair industry, she pays it forward by continuing to teach in salons across the country. She encourages stylists to build their creativity from a foundation of technical knowledge, and with this cornerstone, hair professionals feel confident in the reasons behind the decisions they make behind the chair.

As she travels across the country teaching classes for fellow stylists, she draws inspiration from the different cultures and landscapes she encounters. This attention to her surroundings, as well as her commitment to delivering top notch education brought her to Davines as a Cutting Team Member. She hopes that her work in education will empower her peers to hone their craft with both client-specific creativity and careful attention to sustainability.
